PRYSMIAN WINS A FRAMEWORK AGREEMENT FROM ALLIANDER TO STRENGTHEN THE DUTCH POWER GRID

Milan, March 5, 2026 – Prysmian has been awarded a framework agreement from Alliander for the supply of medium and low-voltage power cables for the development and modernization of the Dutch electricity grid. The award covers an eight-year period and could be worth up to approximately €500 million.

Prysmian was awarded this agreement to supply Alliander over this multi-year period as the Netherlands is expanding, reinforcing and future-proofing its electricity distribution network, while also integrating the adoption of renewable energy within the grid.

Sustainability-driven innovation to unlock modernized power grids

Prysmian stood out in the award process for its sustainability-driven innovation and its local Dutch manufacturing footprint. Prysmian will make use of its proprietary P-Laser technology, which is a fully recyclable solution, together with conventional XLPE solutions for the insulation of the cables. It will also see an enhancement in the use of recycled materials such as recycled copper, low carbon and partly recycled aluminum and recycled PVC in low voltage cables. Transparency will also be enhanced through raw material passports, while full type-testing coverage is in place for all cable types, ensuring compliance, reliability and long-term performance.

Prysmian is the leading provider of solutions for energy and digital connections, delivering major electrical transmission projects on land and at sea, modernizing power grids, and unlocking renewable energy, electrification, and digital connectivity worldwide. The company combines engineering excellence with sustainability-driven innovation, enabled by its 34,000 employees, 109 production facilities and 30 R&D centers in over 50 countries. Prysmian is a public company, listed on the Italian stock exchange and recorded 2025 revenues of approximately €20 billion.
